BAC wants tax increase

A TAX INCREASE of 14 cents is being proposed by the Belleville Area College Board of Trustees. The referendum will seek raising the rate limit for each $100 valuation by 9 cents for education and increasing the limit by 5 cents for the building fund. Education and the building fund currently draw 13.2 cents and 2.8 cents respectively. Current rates have held since the district was formed in 1967. In the past 18 years, enrollment has risen by 600 percent and the geographic area has grown by 300 percent. Information concerning the impact of the proposed tax increase on the Granite City Center can be found on Page 1 of today's Journal.

Balanced budget wins OK

A BALANCED BUDGET for the city of Granite City was passed by an 11-2 vote of the City Council last week, the largest majority for a budget vote in recent years. The $10 million budget does not include wages for city employees, some of whom have been without raises for more than two years. Included in the budget is the purchase of a jet truck, a TV truck and materials needed to start a grouting program, all designed to combat the city's continued problem with sewers. The money will also be used for by-pass pumping.

Employee raises in question

EMPLOYEE RAISES, if given in Granite City, will not come easily. Mayor Von Dee Cruse has taken a hard line on raises for city workers and on the manpower levels in city departments. He said last week he is against hiring in any city department unless proof of need is shown. He said some city employees have gone without raises, but some city residents have gone without paychecks.

Veizer backs Churchill for sheriff

THE JOB OF SHERIFF in Madison County will not be sought by former Granite City Police Chief Ronald Veizer, as some had speculated. Last week, the chief said he would not seek the job and gave his support to Hartford Police Chief Bob Churchill. The sheriff's post promises to be much sought after in 1986 due to the announcement by the current sheriff, Emil J. Toffant, that he plans to retire at the close of his second four-year term. Toffant has endorsed Churchill.

Support goes against Army plan

NATIONAL LEVEL SUPPORT is being given to an effort to gain the release of property declared surplus 15 years ago at the St. Louis Army Supply Center in Granite City. From Illinois, U.S. Sens. Alton Dixon and Paul Simon, and Congressman Melvin Price sent a letter to the Venice City Council stating the three opposed the Army's plan to use the disputed land for a tank training center. The three also stated the land could be used by the Tri-City Regional Port District to bring in business capable of creating "at least 75 jobs in this high unemployment area."

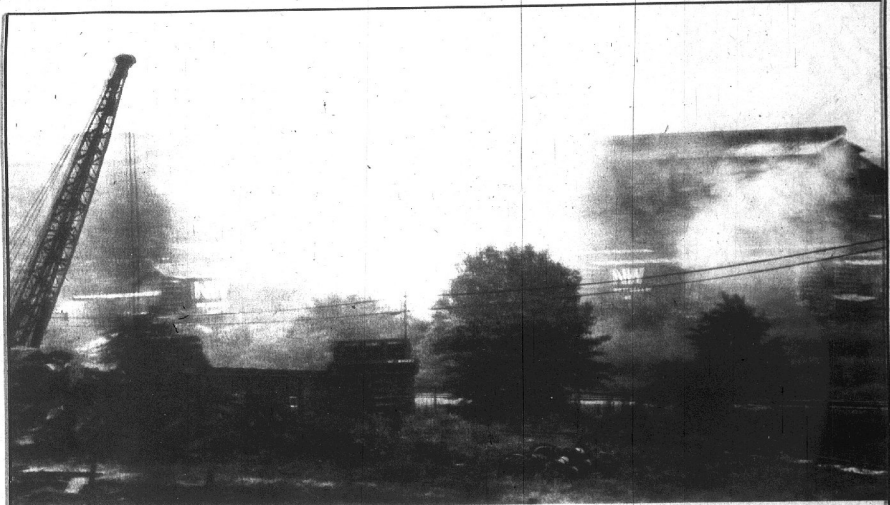

SEN. PAUL SIMON

Winter fees planned for park

WINTER FEES for programs sponsored by the Granite City Park District should be consistent, the Park Board agreed last week. The amount to be charged for the programs has not been determined and will not be for at least another week. Board President George Sykes is the only board member against setting fees. He told the board, "I think the quality of our programs is good right now, but if I was paying, I know I would certainly expect a lot more from you."

Quote of the week

"THE UNEMPLOYMENT in this town has reached 17 percent. And still, people are complaining that the city workers haven't had a pay increase in two years. We have some people in this town who haven't had a paycheck in three years." This quote, from Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse, describes his feelings on giving pay raises to city workers.

DENSE SMOKE DRIFTS toward the Venice viaduct on Broadway from four burning railroad boxcars allegedly being scrapped at the Belson Recycling firm, about a quarter-mile away from the photographer. Venice firefighters extinguished fires in three boxcars, with the fourth car reported "too far down" upon arrival at 4:35 p.m. Thursday. Venice police cited the firm for creating a public nuisance. This week's citation joins a series of similar tickets issued in recent months. (Staff photo by Patrick Foley)

Tax increase to help GCC most

By JACK C. VENTIMIGLIA

GRANITE CITY — The greatest benefit of an area-wide tax increase for Belleville Area College would be felt in the Quad-City Area.

BAC's Granite City Center will receive 53 percent of the money to be gained from the proposed 14-cent tax increase. GCC President Don Kassing told the Granite City Optimists Club Thursday.

Needed programs and renovation work at GCC will be possible if the tax increase gets the simple majority vote it needs to pass, he said.

"The college is going to be a training center for the future," Kassing predicted. He said modern programs are needed, such as robotics, because local industry needs persons skilled in such areas.

Currently, GCC is serving the Quad-City Area with eight full-time faculty members, and a staff of part-timers. Students last year took 34,000 credit hours there.

The GCC building has roofing and air conditioning problems, and the interior needs to be remodeled. Kassing said. In addition, high-tech equipment, expanded course offerings, more library materials, financial aid programs and other services are planned to improve GCC.

"We're operating on a shoestring, concerning the center," Kassing said.

If passed, Kassing said the referendum would bring approximately $7 million in construction to this area, plus $1.2 million for annual operations.

The referendum will be on the Nov. 5 ballot. The average homeowner, with a $60,000 home, will pay $21 annually if the measure passes.

According to BAC, if the measure passes, taxpayers would be "investing $12.12 million for $20 million in new construction ... $15 million in construction wages ..."

UNEMPLOYMENT in the Metro East rose between May and June due to rain interference with outdoor activities, and seasonal reductions in school employment.

Garrett, barmaids arrested

Lucretia Brown, 25, of Webster St., Madison, and Delores J. Edmonds, 26, of 702 W. Madison St., Madison, were arrested for alleged violation of the tavern closing hour at 3:32 a.m. July 20, at the El Capaloro Lounge, 800 Jackson St., Madison.

On July 27 at 3:46 a.m., Madison police said, Donald E. Garrett, 32, of 401 W. 2nd St. was booked at the police station on two counts of alleged obstruction of justice. He was released immediately on $200 cash bail to appear at a hearing Aug. 30 in Granite City.

A police spokesman said the two cases are linked, in that the alleged obstruction consisted of objections on July 20 to the arrests of the two women.

Garrett was exonerated July 15 after gambling arrests occurred. (See GARRETT, Page 11A)

Medicare and Medicaid face troubled future

To the Editor:

Two decades ago, our nation sought for the first time to bring older and low-income Americans into the mainstream of the health care system through two new programs called Medicare and Medicaid.

This month marks the 20th anniversary of these programs. It should be a time of celebration. There is no question that Medicare has helped millions of older Americans obtain quality health care and has contributed to the dramatic increase in life expectancy for those age 65 and older.

Just as important, it has helped protect the income of older persons — as well as the incomes of their sons and daughters — from the high and unpredictable costs of being sick.

Medicaid has been no less a godsend for the nation's poor. In 1964, low-income persons were almost twice as likely not to have seen a physician in the previous two years as were those with higher incomes.

By 1981, the proportion that had seen a doctor in the past two years was the same, regardless of income. This trend clearly has helped account for declines in infant mortality and in death rates for such illnesses as influenza and pneumonia over the past 20 years.

Yet, today, millions of older and low-income Americans are facing a crisis not unlike that which led to the creation of Medicare and Medicaid in the first place.

Today, Americans over 65 are paying $1,660 per year out-of-pocket for health care. That represents about 15 percent of the total mean income for that age group — the same percentage they were paying for health care in 1962. By 2000, out-of-pocket costs are expected to rise to an average of at least 20 percent of total income.

Medicare does not cover some of the most expensive and widespread costs associated with aging — such as prescription drugs, eyeglasses, dental care and hearing aids. Nor does it adequately cover what is projected to be one of the most pressing health care needs in the coming years — long-term care for the chronically ill.

The number of people age 65 and older will increase by 20 percent before the end of this decade and will triple by 2010. The majority of these will be widowed, divorced or single women with few financial resources. The demand for long-term care services both inside and outside the home is expected to increase accordingly.

Shorter hospital stays coupled with inadequate post-hospital community and home health care service may mean that Medicare beneficiaries are being consigned to a "no-care zone" in which they are unable to care for themselves but have no place to go.

All the while, federal and state governments continue their efforts, to trim their health care budgets. That's easy to do, if quality doesn't matter — but it must matter.

Creative reform of Medicare and Medicaid is needed now.

For starters, the money being saved through recent reforms in the Medicare payment system to hospitals should be reinvested in community-based and home health services to help shift Medicare's focus away from acute, in-hospital care.

Reform of Medicare's payment system must continue so that the program pays a fair price for all services. Quality assessment research and the development of monitoring techniques must be encouraged if quality is to be maintained in the program.

And government must seek additional sources of revenue for Medicare and Medicaid. An excellent place to start would be to dedicate a substantial portion of the taxes on tobacco to these programs. Since smoking is clearly associated with increased health problems, such a "user tax" makes good sense.

Only by beginning these and other prudent, necessary reforms now can the nation fulfill the commitment it made to Americans of all ages 20 years ago.

Cuba rotting

Castro-Cuba is a sorry showcase for communism. After 26 years of communism, the island's economy is moribund, capitalized only by a continuing transfusion of Soviet dollars, $10 million a day.

The Cuban worker has to pay a third of his monthly salary for a pair of shoes; half of his monthly salary for a pair of jeans.

Where Castro had imagined he would make Cuba such a shining example of communism that the red flag would soon fly over all Latin America...

On the contrary, the improvements he has been able to make — in computers and robotics and beach hotels — were and are subsidized by money from Spain, West Germany, Ecuador, Colombia.

Countries Castro once sought to subvert he now courts "for capitalistic investment in Cuba."

Clearly, ideology has taken a back seat to economics.

U.S. movies are being shown in Havana. U.S. recordings are being played on Cuban radio. Cuba has established an academic exchange program with our Johns Hopkins University — and seeks others.

And Cuban students who were studying Russian are now studying English. So far Uncle Sam is not accepting Mr. Castro's embrace but is watching and listening...

WHERE THERE'S A WALL

It was a small step for a man but a giant step for mankind the day somebody discovered that hospitals don't have to smell like hospitals.

In California, they don't have to look like hospitals, either.

Because a balding man wearing a coat of many colors is making the rounds.

And in his wake, sterile walls are suddenly alive and once stark rooms host a carnival.

John Feight told the Los Angeles Times, "One day I looked up and there was a wall. I have not been the same since."

He sought and got permission to decorate that wall with an oil-painted mural. That was 2,000 walls ago.

His smock and hands smudged with a spectrum of colors, he goes where invited, for pay or for fun, making hospital walls appear as something more than what they are.

At Rancho Encino Hospital he painted two dozen murals in three days.

Then 15 more at the medical center in Hollywood.

Mostly his subjects are colorful jungle birds and animals and landscapes and seascapes.

Patients wheeled into the operating room in North Hollywood Hospital look up at the ceiling mural. Cancer patients under the cold machinery in the radiation room face a wall-wide sunrise over a lapis blue lake.

Joanne Reed, administrator of that hospital, says the murals add warmth. "They make a statement about caring."

American Medical International, Inc., now wants Mr. Feight to get around to all its hospitals, worldwide, as soon as he can.

That's the only problem, says Mr. Feight: "So many walls, so little time."

Parents Plus seeks support

Parents Plus, an information and support program for pregnant and parenting teens, has been challenged to expand.

The St. Louis Community Foundation has awarded a $5,000, one-for-two challenge grant in support of the program's services. The challenge is that if Parents Plus can raise $10,000 in cash contributions, the St. Louis Community Foundation through the Lang Fund will reward that effort with an additional $5,000 cash contribution.

The agencies providing Parents Plus services and their respective community advisory councils have been working to generate community support from area business and industry.

Many area businesses and organizations have actively supported Parents Plus during its first year and one-half of operations through cash contributions and donations of goods and services. The need for community support has greatly increased for the new year, which began July 1, because of a reduction in funding, officials said.

Parents Plus' principal funding comes from the Ounce of Prevention Fund under Gov. Thompson's Parents Too Soon Initiative. An expectation of the Ounce of Prevention Fund is that the community understand the magnitude of issues associated with adolescent parenthood and become involved in constructively improving the situation. Approximately one out of every five live births in the combined counties of Madison and St. Clair is born to an adolescent parent. About 1,500 infants are born to teens in this area each year.

COMMUNITY SUPPORT. Local supporters of Parents Plus are, from left, Keith Neuber, Parents Plus project coordinator; Ed Ford, Fitzhenry of the Leuders, Robertson and Konzen law firm; Parents Plus fund-raising committee chairman; and John V. Johnson, executive director of Mental Health Services in Granite City.

Many of these young people are unprepared emotionally or financially for the responsibilities of parenthood, a spokesman said; they require information, encouragement and direction to learn the skills necessary to meet the challenge they face. Parents Plus seeks to provide this support and skill development through home visits, group sessions and education. Parents Plus needs help to meet the challenge of reducing adolescent pregnancy and enabling teen parents to be effective parents and self-reliant, contributing citizens. The spokesman added. Financial support through cash donations and participation in fund-raising events is sought, along with ideas, participation on advisory councils and involvement in volunteer activities. Person wishing to help or to learn more about Parents Plus may call Mental Health Services, Southern Madison County Inc. (877-4420).

Meadowlane joins county sewers

By RACHEL NEWSOME

Mitchell's Meadowlane Drive residents can expect good sewer service, said Gene Futch, superintendent of the Special Service Area 1 sanitary sewer system. The sewer lines were connected to Area 1 on July 23.

For the past eight to 10 years, Metro East Utility Co. has owned Meadowlane sewer lines and a lagoon for sewage disposal, collecting sewer fees from residents, Futch said.

BECAUSE OF CHANGES in water treatment standards in recent years, MEUC was notified several times to upgrade its waste treatment and provide more care for the lagoon, according to Robert L. Schlenger, Environmental Protection Agency regional manager. Otherwise, he said, MEUC could connect to Madison County's Area 1.

"Metro East attempted to negotiate with the county. They felt they deserved some sort of equity, I suppose," said Schlenger. Alleging failure to comply with an order to upgrade the facilities, the Illinois Attorney General's office filed a law suit in February.

A $600 PENALTY was assessed for permit violations and MEUC assured the court that residents would be connected to Madison County sewers by April 15. However, it was unable to meet the April 15 deadline, said Alan Samelson of the attorney general's office.

A petition to show cause was filed May 8, requesting the judge to rule that MEUC must explain why it was not in contempt of court.

Through discussion, prior to a hearing set for July 25, the show-cause proceeding was settled out of court. MEUC was fined an additional $2,000 for late action, authorities said.

JERRY WADE, MEUC president, said the company was cited two years ago for pollution and not maintaining the sewer plant properly, but was found not guilty of pollution.

"We agreed to donate the facility to the county, but due to irregularities could not make it work," he said. He declined to discuss what was meant by irregularities.

Commenting on rate levels, Wade said his rates were not unusually high and the county's would be even higher.

"That's their county government in action," he concluded.

MADISON COUNTY completed its final connection procedures to serve the Meadowlane sewer lines on July 23.

"We've cleaned up the entire system, made the necessary repairs and are in operating condition. It's been EPA inspected and approved. It's like a whole new system," said Futch.

"We're on call 24 hours a day, so those residents will not have to wait three or four days for someone to respond."

Purchases for Venice schools are authorized

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

A computer, color copying machine and other items were approved for purchase by the Venice Board of Education at its meeting July 25. All the purchases had been discussed at earlier sessions of the board.

Among the items were an Apple IIe computer with printer, software and a card reader, the latter enabling attendance recordkeeping for the Venice-Lincoln Technical Center. Total cost of the equipment was $4,320.

Peter Ponce, VLT director, said the Toshiba copier authorized will cost about $2,400. It has color capabilities and is available from Duplicating Systems Inc.

Draperies for two rooms at VLT, costing $500, were approved. Ponce reported an emergency occurred two weeks ago when the bottom plug on a large water heater "blew out" and was deemed unrepairable.

The director said it was necessary to purchase an 80-gallon commercial water heater immediately. The new heater cost $2,400, including the installation charge.

Permission was given Supt. of Schools Robert N. Vickers for purchase and installation of carpeting in the board office's conference room, administrative offices and the high school principal's office at a cost of $1,986.

Also approved was purchase of an IBM electric typewriter for the administrative offices, costing $90 with a trade-in allowance.

Other projects authorized were installing screening film on remaining windows of Venice Grade School on the lower floor at a cost of $1,838, and installing draperies on 10 windows at Venice High School.

The drapes, costing a total of $2,616, will be purchased from Lombardi's in Granite City.

Meeting July 31 on nature trail's future

Madison County Nature Trail Volunteers Inc. are inviting Quad-City residents to a public meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 31, at the Edwardsville Township Building, 216 Crane St.

Topics include: Will the county nature trail be abandoned? Does it have public support? Do citizens need a quiet place? Is there an alternative to concrete and asphalt? Can we find help to repair and maintain the trail?

The volunteers hope to learn what public and private agencies are interested in continuing to have the trail available. Their final question is: Are Pontoon Beach, Nameoki Township and Granite City residents involved in the issue?

Those scheduling the meeting are Walter Blotz, Dave and Cathy Combs, John Gibbons, Paul Hawkins and George and Mildred Arnold.

The trail runs from Edwardsville to Pontoon Beach. A bridge on the SIUE campus collapsed this summer, and the Madison County Board may drop its lease with Norfolk & Southern Railway due to liability concerns.

Police News

Accident ends with punch

Walter A. Phillips, 37, of 3212 Wayne Ave. was arrested by Granite City police July 25 after a collision occurred and he allegedly punched the driver of the other vehicle.

Christopher A. Palmiston, 17, of 99 Briarhaven Drive was westbound on Emert Avenue when Phillips allegedly pulled alongside his auto and attempted to cut him off.

Palmiston said Phillips then left his vehicle, ran back to his car and struck Palmiston in the face and head area, causing redness to an ear area and a swollen eye.

Phillips was arrested for battery and driving too fast for conditions.

Arson officials look into suspicious house fire

Arson investigators are looking into the cause of a fire that extensively damaged a home July 24 at 5172 Lakeview Drive.

The home is owned by William H. Chilcutt and rented by his son, William Chilcutt III. The son was not home at the time of the fire.

Madison County reports said when a deputy arrived at the scene at 12:02 a.m., the house was engulfed in flames. The Long Lake Fire Department was fighting the fire.

Authorities believe an intruder may have set fire to the structure. Arson investigators were called in to attempt to determine the cause of the blaze.

3-VEHICLE COLLISION

One person was injured July 21 at Nameoki Road and Faith Avenue in a three-vehicle accident. Drivers of damaged autos were Mary E. Busarich, 1720 Poplar St., and Lynda F. Lane, 20, of 3240 Wayne Ave. A passenger in the latter car, Robert C. Kelly, 20, of 2400 Ohio Ave., suffered minor injuries.

Terry D. Ottinger, 27, of 3160 Yale Drive, operating a tractor-trailer, said he saw the two cars stopped on Nameoki Road but could not avoid a collision. He was charged with driving with a revoked license and failing to reduce speed to avoid an accident.

BICYCLIST HURT BADLY

BY HIT-AND-RUN VEHICLE
John W. Chancellor, 23, of 2527 Nameoki Drive was injured July 25 when his bicycle was hit by a lime green Volkswagen which then left the scene.

Chancellor was riding on Nameoki Drive when the car hit him from the rear, knocking him to the ground. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center by Granite City ambulance and was listed in fair condition Friday.

$175 AUTO PARTS THEFT

William Bennett of Bennett Auto Supply, 2219 Madison Ave., said July 20 someone took several boxes of auto parts from his delivery truck, parked there behind a locked gate. Missing items include sparkplugs, windshield wipers and fan belts. The items are valued at a total of $175.

BURGLAR TAKES BICYCLE

A burglar broke a window and entered the home of Louise Douglas of 3161 Aubrey Ave. July 28, taking a 12-speed bicycle from her home. A bedroom and the basement of the residence were ransacked.

BURGLAR OBTAINS RADIO

Donna Hopson of 3037 Maryville Road reported July 27 a burglar took a portable radio from a bedroom of her home. A window had been forced open.

PASSENGER IS INJURED

Betty Sanders of 2015 13th St. was hurt July 22 when a car in which she was a passenger was struck in the back by a gray 1977 Oldsmobile which left the scene, Niedringhaus and Delmar avenues. The injured woman was in the auto of Linda Sue Fudge, 2212 Edna St.

3 COUNTS AGAINST DRIVER

Benjamin F. Clark III, 28, of 2908 Buxton Ave. was charged July 21 at Edwardsville Road and 21st Street with driving while his driver's license was revoked. He also was served two Madison County warrants alleging driving while under the influence of alcohol and driving with a suspended license.

MAN IS SERVED WARRANT

Steve A. Luedtke, 24, of Brighton was arrested by Granite City police July 28 on a Jersey County warrant alleging failure to appear on a petty theft charge (under $300 value). Arrested at 19th Street and Edwardsville Road, he was released on $302 cash bail.

2 PERSONS HURT IN 3-CAR CRASH AT 20TH-MADISON

Shelly R. Chronister, 17, of 2605 Lincoln Ave. and a passenger in her car, Kim A. Palmer, 16, of 2540 State St. were injured in a three-car accident July 27. The drivers of the other autos were Yolanda K. Stengel, 27, of 112 Abbott St., Venice, and Michael Lynch, 23, of 2940 Grand Ave.

Stengel and Chronister were southbound on Madison Avenue when Stengel stopped to allow Lynch to drive onto Madison from a 20th Street service station. Lynch collided with the Chronister vehicle, which then hit the Stengel auto, witnesses said.

Lynch was charged with driving with a suspended license and failing to yield the right-of-way while in a private drive.

SMOKE DAMAGES GC HOME,

LOSS IS SET AT $10,000
The home of Walter Gasparovic, 2532 Adams St., was extensively damaged by smoke July 29 when a box car caught fire. Total damage was estimated at $10,000.

The fan, which was in the living room, developed an electrical short-circuit. The blaze that ensued burned a hole in the floor, and the rest of the house was damaged by smoke.

CONDUCT CHARGE FILED

Jeri R. Lance, 21, of 2301 Nameoki Road was charged by Granite City police July 20 with disorderly conduct there; they alleged she yelled and tried to pull wires off the engine of an auto. She also was served a Madison County warrant alleging failure to appear for a hearing on a battery count.

CANNABIS WARRANT SERVED

Stephen L. Mitchell, 26, of 1636 Primrose Ave. was arrested by Granite City police July 25 on a Troy warrant alleging failure to appear on an unlawful possession of cannabis charge. The arrest took place at 29th Street and Madison Avenue.

2 CHARGES AGAINST MAN

James B. Ponder, 21, of 2307 E. 23rd St. was charged July 25 with property trespassing and resisting arrest at 180 Kirkpatrick Homes. Police alleged he shoved an officer.

POTTED PLANTS DAMAGED

Roscoe Martin of 2720 Buxton Ave. reported July 27 someone entered his home. When he returned there, he found lights had been turned on in the kitchen, the living room and a bedroom, and potted plants on a kitchen window sill had been knocked over. A list of missing items is being compiled.

TIRES AND WHEELS TAKEN

Jodi White of 2028 Sunbury Ave. told police July 27 a burglar removed a new set of mag wheels and four new tires from a storage shed in his yard.

The Beach Boys

Beach Boys to perform in St. Louis

The Beach Boys, creators of the "California Sound," will be making an appearance in St. Louis at 8 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 3, at The Muny, located in Forest Park.

Tickets for the concert are $11.50, $15.50 and $17.50 and are available at all Ticketmaster locations (Famous-Barr, Dillard's, Regal Sports and Dramas, Togo & Tickets), through Dialtix (1-814-421-1400) and at The Muny box office.

American Motors Corp., one of the sponsors of the concert, will be giving away a 1986 Jeep Comanche pickup truck at the concert.

The Beach Boys, formed in 1961, have produced 39 albums during the past 25 years, many reaching number one positions on the record charts. Two of their albums went gold.

Members of the group include Carl Wilson, vocals and guitar; Brian Wilson, vocals, bass and keyboard; Mike Love, vocals; Alan Jardine, vocals and guitar; and Bruce Johnston, vocals and keyboards. Their most recent album is "The Beach Boys," released on the Caribou/CBS label.

Williams plays with Pops

For the first time in five years, Roger Williams will perform with the St. Louis Symphony at the County Pops, 8 p.m., Aug. 6, 7 and 8. All performances are in Queeny Park's air-conditioned Greensfelder Recreation Center in St. Louis.

Roger Williams, world-renowned pianist and recording artist, is an international favorite on the concert and nightclub stage. In recent seasons he has entertained audiences in Australia, Japan, Canada, Mexico, South Africa and in the United States, where he is a frequent guest at bowl concerts, festivals, theatres-in-the-round and on the Las Vegas-Reno circuit.

Born in Omaha, Neb., and raised in Des Moines, Iowa, Williams began playing piano at age 3. He received his bachelor and master of arts degrees from Idaho State University and Drake University, and later attended the Juilliard School of Music to study with jazz artists Teddy Wilson and Leonard Tristano.

While at Juilliard, Williams supported himself by playing in New York City nightclubs such as Forest Hills Inn, where he was signed to a recording contract with MCA Records. His first single, "Autumn Leaves," was an immediate success, selling over three million copies.

Since then Williams has recorded 60 albums with sales totaling nearly 17 million. He has been called the "pianist of the presidents," having played for Presidents Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy, Johnson, Nixon and Ford.

Tickets for the upcoming performances are priced from $4.50 to $13 each. A discounted rate of 25 percent off the regular ticket price is available to groups of 20 or more.

Obituaries

Edward Boyer Jr.

Edward J. Boyer Jr., 44, of 3100 Union St. was pronounced dead by Deputy Coroner Ed Werner at 3 a.m. Monday, July 29, 1985, at home after suffering an apparent heart attack.

Born March 14, 1941, in Granite City, Mr. Boyer was a lifelong resident of this area.

He was employed at Diamond Plating Co. in Granite City for one year. Mr. Boyer was of the Protestant faith and a member of Teamsters Local 525.

He and his wife, the former Judy French, were married June 15, 1962, in Granite City.

Mr. Boyer was preceded in death by his father, Edward J. Boyer Sr.

Survivors include his wife; one son, Monty E. Boyer of Granite City; three daughters, Kathleen M. Boyer, Elizabeth A. Boyer and Jodi L. Boyer, all of Granite City; his mother, Mrs. Mildred Boyer of Granite City; one brother, Danny R. Boyer of Granite City; and three sisters, Mrs. David (Joyce) Gibson and Julie Greer, both of Granite City, and Mrs. Arthur (Betty) Weisman of Cleveland, Ohio.

Visitation took place Tuesday evening, July 30, at Mercer Mortuary, 1416 Niedringhaus Ave. Graveside services will be held at 1 p.m. Wednesday, July 31, at St. John Cemetery, Granite City.

Memorials are requested for the American Heart Fund.

Ruth Richardson

Ruth C. (Clapham) Richardson, 81, of 1550 Lois Lane, Bethlehem, Pa., formerly of Madison, died at 6:07 a.m. Sunday, July 28, 1985, at St. Luke's Hospital in Bethlehem. Born in Westerville, Ohio, Mrs. Richardson grew up in Madison. She was a member of the Order of Eastern Star, New Hope Chapter 432 of Granite City, and the Bethlehem Women's Club.

Survivors include her husband, Thomas C. Richardson.

Services will be at 11 a.m. Wednesday, July 31, at John F. Heron Funeral Home, 458 Center St., Bethlehem, followed by private burial. Visitation will begin at 10 a.m., preceding the funeral services.

Memorials are requested for the Leigh Valley Crippled Children and Adult Association, 2200 Industrial Drive, Bethlehem, Pa. 18018.

Funeral services held for Charles A. Smith

Charles Alvin Smith, 28, of Alton, was pronounced dead at 10:42 p.m. Wednesday, July 24, 1985, in the emergency room of St. Joseph's Hospital, following a shooting incident.

He was a self-employed roofer and was born in Alton, a son of Herschel and Iris (Dillback) Smith of Alton.

In addition to his parents, surviving are one daughter, Nicole Sue Smith of Granite City; one brother, Robert A. Smith of East Alton; and one sister, Romala Burgess of Foley, Mo.

Burial was at Wanda Cemetery, South Roxana.

The current tax rate was set 18 years ago, in 1967.

The property tax would increase 10.5 cents. The maximum authorized tax increase, which the college will seek, is 14 cents. The remaining 3.5 cents will not be levied until district bonds are paid off, which will occur in 1987 and 1992.

Venice man is wounded; two flee in auto

A Venice man was wounded in a shooting incident at 8 a.m. Saturday near the Lee Wright Homes apartments in Venice. The assailants are believed to be from St. Louis.

Byron Bell of Venice was shot in the back while running from two men in the vicinity of the Venice dog pound. The pound is located near the Merchants Bridge highline west of the Lee Wright Homes complex.

Bell was in stable condition Tuesday at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. He is not in serious condition, authorities said.

After being shot, Bell ran to an apartment in the 100 block of Lee Wright Homes, where the occupant summoned police.

Bell, who is in his mid-20s, was conscious when officers arrived and he was taken by ambulance to the Medical Center. Details of his wounds were not released.

Several calls were received by the Venice Police Department from residents in the vicinity. One person reported hearing four shots fired.

Officers are taking statements and continuing to investigate the case.

• Garrett arrested again

May 10 at the El Capaloro Lounge; authorities determined he was not the licensee, nor was he present during gambling, nor was he the property owner. He is a member of the Madison County Board, Madison City Council and Madison School Board.

According to a Madison police report on the July 20 arrests, Lucretia Brown told an arresting officer she was hired to work in the lounge but was never informed about the closing hour of the tavern.

When policemen arrived, they said, they found several couples in the tavern, drinking and dancing.

Patrolman Donald Bridick reported that a man at the tavern said he had talked to a police official and obtained permission to stay open for music and alcohol sales an extra hour; the legal weekend closing hour is 3 a.m.

Bridick was quoted as telling the man there is no exemption to the established hours; Bridick also pointed out no written exemption order was on display.

Bridick then informed the man the barmen would be arrested for violation of the tavern closing hour and the licensee would be sent a notice of the same violation.

The women were released from custody at 4 a.m. July 20 after posting $102 each. Notices were given to them to appear in the Granite City court on Aug. 16.

Contacted July 29, Madison Police Chief William Papa said no closing hour waivers have been sought or granted. Papa succeeded Bridick as chief this spring.

$987,324 budgeted for GC parks

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A $987,324 budget for the Granite City Park District was passed by the board unanimously July 24.

The new budget included only two minor changes from the original proposed budget presented to the board in June. Purchase of tort liability insurance and workmen's compensation insurance from Bayly, Martin and Fay of Chicago in late June prompted an increase of $4,515 in insurance costs.

THE BUDGET PROJECTS a surplus of $196,485 at the end of the fiscal year, April 30, 1986.

Estimated expenditures include: administrative department, $17,558; parks, $298,518; concession stands, $60,400; operation of the swimming pool, $62,425; ice skating rink, $76,600; neighborhood parks, $42,975; Wilson Park playground, $157,975; community house, $26,995; Harold Brown Recreation Center, $38,350; contributions to the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund, $53,763; tort liability insurance, worker's compensation and workmen's occupational diseases insurance, and unemployment insurance, $48,515; and auditing of accounts, $3,150.

The board will hold a public hearing at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 14, prior to a regular board meeting, to discuss a proposed $535,892 tax levy for the coming year.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, bids were received from three fuel companies for gasoline service in the coming year. The board agreed to accept a bid from Rich Oil Co. of Granite City, conditional on determining the owner of the gas pump at the park.

Rich's bid was 91 cents per gallon for regular gasoline and 96 cents per gallon for unleaded gasoline. Maintenance Supervisor Adrean Rains said the district will use approximately 8,000 gallons of unleaded gas in a year and 2,000 gallons of regular gas.

A letter from Judy White, a member of the administrative staff at Alpha Center, a shelter for pregnant women in need, was received. Alpha requested use of the Wilson Park pool and asked if there were any special programs or discounts for which it could qualify.

WHITE SAID the center is encouraging the women to become more active physically to lessen the possibility of a difficult childbirth.

Sue Champion, office manager at the park, informed Alpha the board had agreed to let the center use the pool from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday free of charge as long as the district is provided with a list of the women eligible to swim. Participants must present some form of identification at the pool ticket office.

AUGUST IS FAMILY EYE CARE MONTH AT PEARLE.

IT'S TIME TO TAKE A HEALTHY LOOK AT YOUR FAMILY'S EYES.

Summerstage presents 'Sound of Music'

Granite City Summerstage will present "The Sound of Music" on Aug. 2, 3 and 4. "The Sound of Music" is based on the true story of Maria, a young Austrian woman whose exuberant personality and candor made her a questionable candidate for becoming a nun. Accordingly, the Abbey sends her to work for a time as a governess for the children of Captain Von Trapp, a former naval officer.

After some initial clashes, Maria wins over the children, and she and the captain eventually fall in love and are married. Unfortunately, this occurs during the rise of the Third Reich, and Captain Von Trapp's beliefs will not permit him to submit to Nazism. The story ends as the family, encountering great danger, escapes across the Austrian Alps to freedom.

Maria will be played by Beverly Scroggins, Captain Von Trapp by George Cochran, The Mother Abbess by June Branding, Rolf by Adam Schneider, Elsa by Mary Ann Bright, Max by Dan Vizeer, Herr Zeller by Jim Fensterman, Baron Elberfeld by Ron Blatz, Admiral Von Schriber by John Taylor, Franz by John Mefford and Frau Schmidt by Ann Scott. The Von Trapp children will be played by Beth Bodin, Christopher Mann, Jenny Murray, Chris Blatz, Nona Mefford, Claudia Snyder and Suzanne Lerch. Directing the production is Beverly Scroggins, manager of the Summerstage Company. Stage manager is Judy McNelly and choreography will be by Marge Penell.

"The Sound of Music" opened at the Lunt-Fontanne Theater in New York City on Nov. 16, 1959, continuing for 1,442 performances. The London production at the Palace Theater started on May 18, 1961, and is still running after more than 1,230 performances.

"The Sound of Music" contains well-known songs such as "Climb Every Mountain," "My Favorite Things," "The Sound of Music" and "Do Re Mi."

Curtain time will be 8 p.m. for all three performances. Tickets are $4 and can be purchased at the door or in advance from cast members. All three performances will be at the Granite City Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave. Additional information is available by calling 877-2228.

JASUDOWICZ
Jasudowicz joins
Hoffman Realty

Richard Jasudowicz, a licensed real estate agent for 12 years, is now a full-time member of the staff at Carl Hoffman Realty Co., 2948 Madison Ave., according to an announcement this week by Carl Hoffman. Jasudowicz is a member of the Million Dollar Club and during his career in real estate he has attended real estate courses at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, Belleville Area College and the Real Estate Education Company. He resides at Rural Route 2, Box 1065, Ruth Drive, Granite City, with his wife, Shirley, and their three children, Richard Jr., Julianne and Jeremy.

Award road projects

Resurfacing of areas of St. Thomas Road in Mitchell is to be carried out by Charles Mahoney Co. of Belleville for $144,238. Rite Electric Co. of Granite City has just been awarded a contract for $75,309 to modernize traffic signals at Bend Road and Route 203.

Rear-enders lead

Rear-end collisions are the most common type of injury accidents. About 30 percent of all auto accidents are rear-enders — some 4.3 million of them a year.

Sibling class on Aug. 17

Because the arrival of a new baby is an important event which affects everyone in the family — especially the other siblings — St. Elizabeth Medical Center is offering an opportunity for siblings to learn they are a key part of the upcoming event. This is done by their participation in activities directed toward their role in welcoming and understanding the newborn baby.

To attend the sibling class, children must be two years or older, and the expectant mother must be at least six months pregnant. The child must be accompanied by a parent, who will also be involved in the class activities. There is no fee for the class.

The expectant sibling class will be held on Saturday, Aug. 17, from 10 a.m. to noon in the OB solarium on the obstetrics floor of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

To register, or for additional information, the phone number is 798-3040.

Bake sale to raise funds for crisis center

The Granite City Press-Record/Journal will sponsor a bake sale beginning at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, Aug. 1, in the newspaper lobby.

Funds raised from the bake sale will be contributed to Phoenix Crisis Center, a home for abused women.

Beta Nu installs 1985-86 officers

Beta Nu Chapter of Phi Tau Omega Sorority held its installation of officers at Voloski's Restaurant in Madison July 25.

Mrs. Doreen Hutchings, retiring president, was chairman for the evening and the installing officer. She was presented a gift from the chapter for her service as president in the past year.

Officers installed for 1985-86 were: president, Ruth Nicholas, vice president, Eunice Whitsell, recording secretary, Norma Hillmer, social secretary, Frances Cowley, treasurer, Dorothy Bergrath, scribe, Jane Modrusic, sergeant-at-arms, Judy Modrusic and historian, Dorothy Hinson.

Four members attended the National Convention of Phi Tau Omega Sorority in June at the Arlington Park Hilton in Arlington Heights, Ill. A report of the business transactions and social events was given by Norma Hillmer, Dorothy Bergrath, Julie Derr and Dorothy Hinson. Dorothy Hinson was chairman of the auditing committee for the national treasurer's records. It was noted.

Around the Kitchen

The wok — a nearly perfect cooking tool for fried food

The wok is a very nearly perfect tool.

In the last few years these mainstays of Oriental kitchens have taken up residence in millions of American homes, bringing with them a whole new approach to cooking.

The wok's concave design makes it possible to fry foods with very little oil. Its ability to heat foods very fast and evenly makes it possible to cook a variety of foods quickly, so that their nutrients are not lost and their colors and textures are enhanced. With the addition of a bamboo rack, the wok becomes an efficient steamer.

Before using your new wok, season it by heating it and then putting 3 or 4 tablespoons of peanut oil in it. Allow the oil to become quite hot, then coat the inside of the wok evenly. Peanut oil is excellent for wok cooking because it can be used at much higher temperatures than vegetable oil.

After you've coated the wok with the oil, keeping it at a high temperature for several minutes, pour off the oil and allow the wok to cool. When it has cooled, wipe the inside of the wok with paper towels. Never use soap or abrasives on the inside of your wok. The burned-on oil forms a patina that improves your wok with every use.

When you're ready to cook, heat the wok for a few minutes, then add peanut oil and allow the oil to become quite hot before you add your first ingredients. A good test is to put a small piece of food in the hot oil. If it immediately begins to fry and sizzle, you're ready to cook.

Wok cooking in Chinese is called ch'ao tsai — "to cook." You must use your wok spatula like a shovel. Push the spatula quickly under the food and quickly turn it over with a twist of your wrist. The objective is to evenly coat the ingredients with oil and spices, and to keep them at a high temperature.

When you prepare your ingredients, remember that Chinese foods traditionally are eaten with chopsticks. This means that each piece should be bite-size, yet large enough to be picked up easily.

So Kan pei (cheers)! We hope your wok brings you many delicious meals.

If you don't have a wok, and don't plan to buy one, you can use a good-quality frying pan for today's recipes. Though the results won't be identical to wok cooking, they should be quite acceptable.

boned, skinned and diced into ¾-inch cubes

Marinade:
1 tsp. white wine or dry sherry
1 tsp. cornstarch

2 cups plus 2-3 tbsps. peanut oil
2 tbsps. minced fresh garlic
½ cup green bell pepper, cut into 1-inch squares
½ cup canned sliced bamboo shoots
10 slices carrot, cut into 1½-inch lengths
½ cup chicken broth
1 tsp. white wine or dry sherry
2 tbsps. soy sauce
Salt to taste
1 tsp. cornstarch, mixed in 2 tbsps. water
1 tsp. peanut oil
½ tsp. sesame oil

Mix chicken with marinade, and let stand for 10 minutes.

Heat wok over high heat for few minutes, then add 2 cups peanut oil. When oil is very hot (beginning to smoke), stir in half of chicken and cook for 5 to 10 seconds, until meat begins to turn white. Remove and drain. Cook second batch of chicken. Discard oil and wipe wok with paper towels.

Heat reserved 2 to 3 tablespoons oil till smoking hot. Add minced garlic, green pepper, bamboo shoots, carrot and chicken broth; stir-fry for 1 minute.

Return chicken to wok; add wine, soy sauce and salt. Stir until well blended. Add water-cornstarch mixture to thicken gravy. Add 1 teaspoon peanut oil to glaze. Garnish with sesame oil and serve immediately.

Serves 2 as main course.

small ones; about 1 lb.

¾ cup peanut oil

¼ lb. pork

2-3 tbsps. fresh ginger, finely chopped

3-5 tbsps. garlic, finely chopped (about a handful)

1 tsp. hot bean sauce, or more to taste

Seasonings:

2 tbsps. soy sauce

1 tsp. salt

1 tsp. sugar

½ cup chicken or pork stock (or water)

2 green onions

2 tbsps. sesame oil

1 tsp. cornstarch, mixed with 2 tbsps. water

Wash eggplant and cut into 3-inch strips, about as thick as your little finger. Skin may be removed. If it is not, the dish will have a characteristic purple color.

Salt strips lightly and pat dry.

Heat ½ cup of peanut oil in wok until very hot. Add eggplant and reduce heat to medium. Cook, stirring frequently, until eggplant has become soft and moist-looking. More oil may be added as eggplant absorbs original quantity.

Remove eggplant with slotted spoon and drain. Press excess oil out of eggplant with spoon or spatula. (Note: Eggplant may be prepared ahead of time, and following steps performed just before you are ready to serve.)

Chop pork into ¼-inch pieces.

Heat 3 tablespoons peanut oil in wok until very hot. Add pork and stir-fry briefly until meat is gray.

Add ginger, garlic and hot bean sauce. Cook, stirring, until ginger, garlic and meat begin to absorb red color from hot bean sauce.

Add seasonings. Stir briefly, then add reserved eggplant.

Cook, stirring occasionally, until liquid starts to disappear.

Add green onion, chopped into small pieces, and sesame oil. Stir and add cornstarch/water mixture. Stir. When sauce has thickened and begins to adhere to eggplant strips, remove to serving dish and serve immediately.

Serves 4 to 6.

Quick, tempting dishes from Thailand

Interest in the foods of Thailand is blossoming. But if your town has no Thai restaurant, the answer to a beautiful Thai meal may be to cook it yourself.

Cooking instructor and food authority Gloria Zimmerman is a cookbook author and colleague of chefs such as Jacques Pepin and Madame Gracie Chiu.

While she has not yet published a volume on Thai cooking, her new cookbook is "The Classic Cuisine of Vietnam," written with Bach Ngo. She also contributed to an encyclopedia of Chinese cooking.

Zimmerman spends 10 weeks a year away from her Connecticut home, on the road, teaching classes. She has been doing this for the last 15 years. At least once a year, she teaches Oriental cooking on board the Queen Elizabeth II.

And for one back-breaking summer, Zimmerman ran a restaurant with Pepin and his wife in Connecticut.

"Don't be intimidated," Zimmerman tells her students. "Thai cooking is very simple, not as complex as Chinese."

2 tbsps. chopped fresh cilantro leaves
Mandarin oranges or fresh pineapple
Crush garlic and coriander roots and fry in oil over low heat. When garlic turns golden add pork, peanuts, fish sauce, pepper, sugar.

chili and cilantro leaves and continue to stir-fry over high heat until mixture is well cooked, dark brown and quite dry.

Prepare fruit. Peel mandarin oranges (or tangerines). Separate into segments and cut each segment open down the back (similar to de-veining shrimp). Lay them flat on serving dish, skin downward. Pineapple slices can be cut into bite-size pieces.

Pile pork mixture on top of mandarin or pineapple pieces. Serve as hors d'oeuvre or with rice.

MEE KROB

4 scallions
½ lb. rice vermicelli
Oil for deep frying
12 eggs, lightly beaten

1 large onion, finely chopped
1 tsp. garlic, finely chopped
½ lb. pork, cut into 2-by-¼-inch strips
1 boneless chicken breast, cut into 2-by-¼-inch strips
Skin of 1 lime, cut into 1-by-¼-inch strips
½ lb. of medium shrimp
2 chilies, seeded; cut into 1-by-¼-inch strips
3 tbsps. soy sauce
¼ cup tamarind water (see directions below)
3 tbsps. fish sauce
4 tbsps. sugar
Juice of 2 limes
Egg nets (directions below)
2 tbsps. chopped cilantro
2 tbsps. chopped scallion greens

1 chili pepper, fringed
½ lbs. bean sprouts

Trim all but 2 inches off top of scallions. Cut 4 intersecting cuts 1 inch deep on both ends of scallions. Place in ice water and refrigerate.

Heat oil to 375 F and deep fry rice vermicelli in sections, turning over after noodles puff. Briefly fry second side. Remove from oil and set on paper towels.

Make egg nets: Heat oil in pan suitable for deep frying to temperature of about 300 F. (Use of a deep-frying thermometer is recommended.) Dip fingers of one hand into well-beaten egg and drip egg into hot oil in four different directions. The goal is to make fried egg look like net. Remove, drain and keep warm. Make second egg net.

Discard all but 6 tablespoons of oil in wok used to deep fry rice vermicelli. Heat and add onions and garlic. Fry for about 1 minute until they become aromatic. Add pork. Cook for about 2 minutes and add chicken. Continue to cook another 2 minutes. Reduce heat and add sauce mixture, chilies and shredded lime. When sauce has reduced to almost half, add shrimp and cook for additional 2 to 3 minutes until sauce becomes syrupy.

Place ¼ of fried noodles in large bowl and ½ cup of the sauce over it. Mix with 2 forks, being careful not to crush noodles. Repeat this until all noodles and sauce have been combined. Mound Mee Krob on large platter. Sprinkle on chopped scallions and cilantro. Spread egg nets over mound and decorate with fringed chili. Arrange bean sprouts around the mound Mee Krob.

For tamarind water: Soak tamarind paste in hot water until dissolved. Strain and discard pulp. Use 2 teaspoons paste for every 2 tablespoons hot water.

Remember rosemary at cooking thyme

"Parsley, sage, rosemary and thyme... remember me to the one who lives there. She once was a true love of mine."

Remember the words of the old Simon and Garfunkel tune? They're particularly apt since, as Ophelia told Hamlet, "There's rosemary, that's for remembrance."

Rosemary has been symbolic of lovers' fidelity since the days of ancient Rome. And it was once a tradition in England to present the bridegroom with a bouquet of the herb on his wedding day, to ensure faithful and enduring love.

If you've forgotten to add a jar of rosemary to your spice rack, why not remember it next time you're at the market? You'll find so many unexpected uses for this sweetly fragrant herb, you may wonder how you did without it.

Rosemary is an evergreen, a member of the mint family. Its leaves are grayish-green and pointed like pine needles, with a flavor reminiscent of mint. Excellent with lamb, pork, chicken and seafood, it's an herb to use sparingly - but often.

A standard ingredient in poultry stuffings, rosemary also is found typically in commercial "Italian seasoning" blends, and in wine marinades for meats. Try infusing one-half teaspoon of dried rosemary in a cup of boiling water for a tangy, fresh-tasting herbal tea.

Zucchini, spinach, green beans, peas and potatoes all can benefit from a pinch of rosemary.

Available fresh or dried (whole leaf or ground), this herb of remembrance and true love adds a hint of minty-sweet flavor to the following microwave recipes.

HERBED LAMB STEW

1 1/2 lbs. boneless lamb
2 medium-size onions, sliced
1 clove garlic, minced
1/4 cup flour
2 cups water
1/2 cup tomato paste
1 tsp. instant chicken bouillon
1/4 tsp. crushed rosemary
1/4 tsp. each salt and pepper
1/2 cup frozen peas

In 2-quart glass casserole combine lamb, onions and garlic. Sprinkle flour over top and toss gently to coat.

Combine water, tomato paste, bouillon and seasonings; blend thoroughly. Pour over lamb mixture.

Cover and microwave on HIGH (100 percent power) 5 minutes. Stir. Reduce setting to MEDIUM (50 percent power), and continue cooking 30 to 35 minutes, stirring every 10 minutes, until meat is tender.

Stir in peas and microwave 5 minutes longer. Let stand, covered, several minutes before serving.

SAVORY SAUCE PORK

2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 lb. boneless pork, cut into 1-inch cubes
1/4 cup flour
1/4 tsp. each garlic salt and pepper
1/2 cup sour cream
1/4 cup water
1/4 cup red wine
1/2 tsp. crushed rosemary
Chopped fresh parsley (for garnish)

Place butter in 1 1/2-quart glass casserole and microwave 45 seconds to 1 minute, until melted. Place pork in bag with flour, garlic salt and pepper. Shake well to coat meat.

Turn meat into casserole and microwave, uncovered, 5 minutes; stir. Microwave 4 minutes longer.

Combine sour cream, water, wine and rosemary; pour over meat. Cover and microwave 10 to 13 minutes, stirring after 6 minutes, until meat is tender. Let stand, covered, 3 to 4 minutes.

Serve over hot cooked rice or noodles, and garnish with chopped fresh parsley.

Serves 4.

CHEDDAR ZUCCHINI CUSTARD

5 cups shredded fresh zucchini, packed
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1/2 tsp. each garlic powder, pepper and crushed rosemary
3 tbsps. chopped fresh parsley
1/4 cup commercial biscuit mix
4 eggs, well beaten
2 tbsps. butter or margarine
Dash paprika

Place zucchini in large bowl; sprinkle with salt, and set aside for 1 hour. Turn into colander and press out liquid.

Return zucchini to bowl and add cheese, garlic powder, pepper, rosemary, parsley, biscuit mix and eggs. Blend thoroughly.

Place butter in shallow 10-inch glass baking dish and microwave 30 to 45 seconds, until melted. Spread zucchini mixture evenly in dish and microwave, uncovered, 5 minutes.

Stir, sprinkle lightly with paprika, and microwave 5 minutes longer. Let stand 3 to 5 minutes before serving.

Serves 4 to 6.

An easy way to brown flour for gravy: put some flour in a custard cup and place in oven beside meat. When the meat is done the flour will be brown and ready to turn into gravy.

Interest has suddenly dropped on 1986 Isuzu trucks.
While other truck makers are trying to get you to buy their 85 leavers, Isuzu dealers are offering you 8.6% financing on brand new 1986 pickups. Which means you can save hundreds on everything from an economical standard PUP to a powerful 4x4.
So see Northland Isuzu soon! Because with exciting trucks like these, they won't last forever!

Roderick's restaurant celebrates 40 years

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

How many businesses in Granite City are still in the same family as they were in 1945?

Some, but not many. And what bread truck driver would get out of making his deliveries by buying one of the stores to which he used to take bread?

Ollie Roderick would. LAST TUESDAY, Roderick's Restaurant, 2723 E. 24th St., celebrated the 40th anniversary of the day Ollie decided to get out of the truck driving business and into the restaurant business.

"I was driving a truck for Taystee Bread at that time," he remembered. "And I was up for a supervisor's job with the company. I was doing pretty good as a driver and I didn't know if I wanted to be a supervisor for eight other men."

So instead of moving up into a new job with Taystee, a job he might not like, Ollie put his money into the restaurant, which really wasn't a restaurant at the time.

"WE HAD a confectionery and a bar in here when I first took over," Ollie said. "But we got rid of the confectionery right away."

"This place was mostly just a neighborhood tavern for many years," said Ollie's son, Ron, who now works at the restaurant. "It was always a nice little place. We had our living quarters in the back, where the kitchen is now, for several years."

Ollie bought the store from N.V. Pinney on July 22, 1945. Pinney's son, in fact, was in the restaurant on the 40th anniversary for lunch.

"I JUST DECIDED to buy it right then," Ollie said. "I don't even know what I paid for it. I know we actually leased it the first year with an option to buy."

It took Ollie, who retired last July, several years to make the restaurant the kind of place he wanted. He moved the bar once and then totally removed it in 1963. At the same time, the Rodericks began cooking there and turned it into a restaurant.

"That really helped our business," Ollie said. "I wanted to get rid of the bar for a long time. That's something you really need specialists for."

FURTHER CHANGES were coming in 1968. Until then, the restaurant had been sit-down style. But along with some remodeling, cafeteria-style serving was introduced.

"We did a survey then," Ollie said. "And we found when it gets crowded it could take about an hour and 30 minutes for table service to be completed. You have to get your table, and the waitress brings you menus and water and takes the order and everything like that."

"These days, the average person coming in might have about 25 minutes. So we thought the cafeteria

THREE GENERATIONS. Roderick's Restaurant has proven to be a family affair. A third generation has begun working there. Taking a break from the kitchen are, left to right, Jerry Roderick, his father Ollie, who originally began the business in 1945; Ollie's wife, Theresa; grandson Mark; and Mark's father, Ron. The restaurant, at 2723 E. 24th St., is open from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Monday through Friday.

serving would be better."

BUSINESS CONTINUED to go well, and Roderick's became famous for its fish on Fridays, among other specialties.

The restaurant caters, although that was something Ollie didn't plan on in the beginning.

"This guy was having a wedding in his family and he asked if we catered," he said. "I said no, we had never done anything like that. He said our food was really good and wondered if we could just bring some out for the wedding. That's how we got started."

AFTER 40 YEARS in the business, Ollie said he doesn't really see any major changes.

"It's still just a neighborhood place where people can get together and have a good meal," he said.

"It's someplace to bring the kids," The Rodericks said there are still a few people who were coming in 1945 who come to the restaurant now.

"That was 40 years ago, of course," Ollie said. "So a lot of people back then are gone now. But I guess we still have some who come in once in a while."

OLLIE'S TWO SONS, Ron and Jerry, now work at the restaurant, as do Ron and Jerry's sons. So the Rodericks figure to be at the restaurant for many years to come. That is, unless some other bread truck driver stops in and buys the place.

Three wines put on commissioner list

Officials of the Illinois Liquor Commission and the Illinois Department of Public Health this week repeated a recent warning to the public not to drink the following Austrian wines: 1983 Illmiller Felsenecker Beerenaualese (Rose), 1983 Illmiller Kaisergraben Beerenaualese (White Wine) and 1983 Ruster Beerenaualese (White Wine).

The federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms of the Food and Drug Administration announced that these wines may contain traces of diethylene glycol, a chemical used in anti-freeze. Consumption of this chemical may cause nausea, kidney dysfunction or even death when ingested in certain quantities, the officials said.

People are advised not to drink these wines and to discard the wine or return it to the place of purchase. Federal officials have ordered the product removed from store shelves and state officials are concerned that consumers may still have some stored at home.

All three wines are bottled and shipped by Ferdinand Pieroth, GMBH, Burs Layen, West Germany.

Hogan Junior hurlers settle for third place Junior legion bats hit dry spell in post-season tournament losses

By JOE THOMPSON
Journal Sports Writer
EDWARDSVILLE — When they were winning 14 of 15 games during one stretch this season, Kelly Hogan's Junior American Legion team merely would have to make a face at an opposing hurler and boom — 10 runs, no sweat.

Tim Hogan would only have to swagger a bit as he walked to the plate. Todd Hinterser only had to hitch his pants as he settled in the batters' box. Kicking up the dirt with his back foot as he dug in, was all Charlie Collins needed to send shivers out to the mound. Opposing pitchers already knew about the power Todd Adamitis packed in his wallop.

They were only four of Kelly Hogan's top hitters. The kids, en masse, knocked the cover off the ball.

So when they lost two games in the Junior American Legion playoffs at Hoppe Park here Saturday afternoon — settling for third place plaques in the double elimination tournament — you knew something was amiss. You had a good idea what it was.

"When it comes down to the bottom line, we just didn't hit," said Kelly Hogan assistant coach Carl Benson.

The big innings that characterized Kelly Hogan's stellar 19-6 season was absent in a 5-4 loss to Waterloo (22-3) in the first game and a 4-3 defeat to O'Fallon (15-11) later.

Kelly Hogan held leads in both games but could not manufacture the big outburst that might have given it the title. Kelly Hogan had seven hits in each game, but could score no more than two runs in any one inning.

Only one of their hits was for extra bases, an orbit-like blow launched by Scott LeVault which cleared the head of Waterloo centerfielder Don Werth in the first inning. One wonders if even Abner Doubleday could have foreseen that it would be the team's only extra-base hit in the next 13 innings.

Kelly Hogan had advanced to the double-elimination tournament finals earlier that morning, thanks to a gutsy rally against Alton. Trailing in the last of the seventh inning of a game resumed from the previous night, Adamitis dropped a two-strike, two-out pop fly double into a vacated right centerfield scoring two runs to beat Alton, 3-2.

As heroic as it was, the hit still wasn't up to Adamitis' or Kelly Hogan usual standards. "I didn't really hit it that good," said the Saturday morning hero, Adamitis. "But it came out smelling pretty good."

While failure to get the big hit was scrawled across the bottom line of Kelly Hogan's play that afternoon when things didn't turn up smelling like roses, the preceding lines were also thickly marked.

The complaints centered on the umpiring, errors, and roster size. The remarks looked something like this: "174-114 (1771)!"

Umpiring: Kelly Hogan was on the short end of four contested rulings costing the team at least two runs against Waterloo and, against O'Fallon, its starting hurler, Jeff Zukas, who was disqualified after apparently arguing too strenuously on a disputed call at second base. The hard-throwing left-hander had pitched to just three batters.

Fielding: A two-out dropped pop fly by shortstop Hinterser followed by a muffed fly ball in right field by Zukas allowed Waterloo to score the tying run in the fifth inning.

Roster shortage: Kelly Hogan played with only 11 players during the three games. Among the absentees were Tim and Jamie Hogan, who had prior commitments.

Paul Kacera, Kelly Hogan's manager, pulled off his blue cap.

What did he think of the season? The 19 victories in 25 games popped into mind. So did winning the division title. Maybe even he thought back to earlier that afternoon morning when, in the thrill of beating Alton, the bear-like Kacera nearly swallowed an also bear-like Hinterser in an embrace after Hinterser slid home with the winning run.

"I think he got a couple of ribs," said Hinterser with a grin. "He got me in full stride."

It was not a bad year. In fact, it was quite good.

That's what Kacera emphasized. "We had a successful season," he said.

Here's a capsule look at what happened on the last day of the successful season.

WATERLOO 5, KELLY HOGAN 4
LeVault's towering two-run double to the base of the centerfield fence chased home Hinterser and Adamitis. Hinterser reached on a basehit to left field, and Adamitis beat out a ground ball to the infield. Waterloo cut the lead in half in its second inning, and touched off Kelly Hogan's first squabble with the umpires.

With two runners on base and two outs, Waterloo's Greg Bassie grounded to Hinterser, who tossed to second baseman Charlie Collins for what Kelly Hogan thought was the third out. The base umpire, however, not only ruled the runner safe at second, but delayed his call.

In the meantime, Waterloo's Don Werth, who was on second, raced home for Waterloo's first run.

According to Kacera and Benson, the umpire struck out — twice.

"He blew it (the call at second). He just didn't see the tag," said Kacera. "The second baseman knocked his helmet off with the ball."

When he did make the call, well, he took too long, Benson charged. "The late call cost us a run. No doubt about it."

Waterloo's second run came in the third inning. It, too, was tainted by umpire blue. Waterloo's Nick Ahrens jumped a high inside fastball from starting pitcher Jay Valvert, knocking it over the left field fence. Question: was it fair, or foul?

"Foul — by a foot," said Kelly Hogan catcher Dave Bamber.

Fair — the home plate umpire motioned. Kelly Hogan jumped back into a two-run lead in the fourth inning. Jay Valvert started with a walk. Third baseman Darin Hendrickson raced to first safely on a ground ball to the infield. After the next batter was retired, Valvert and Hendrickson moved into scoring position on a bunt. Collins then scored both with a pop fly single into centerfield.

A hit by Bessie to left center scored Werth in the fourth inning to whittle away at Kelly Hogan's second two run lead. With two outs and one runner on base in the fifth inning, Waterloo squared matters with the help of two dropped fly balls — the first by Hinterser in short left and Zukas in medium right.

Waterloo then chased home the winning run in the last of the seventh on a bases loaded, no outs ground ball single to left field by Werth.

O'FALLON 4, KELLY HOGAN 3
The storm warnings were out early for Kelly Hogan. After taking a 1-0 lead in the first inning on a single to left field by Collins to score Rich Wilson who had reached on a third strike wild pitch, Kelly Hogan appeared to have things under control.

In the last of the first inning, however, starting pitcher Zukas was given the your out-of-the-game thumb by the umpire after arguing a close play at second.

On the play, O'Fallon's Rob Stroth was on second base when Kelly Hogan third baseman Darin Hendrickson made an outstanding stop of a ground ball by Derek Holmes and threw to second. Stroth appeared out, but was called safe, prompting Zukas to argue.

Mark Bowen, who picked up the victory against Alton that morning after pitching the three innings, took over. Bowen got out of the jam.

However, O'Fallon continued to mount threats. Finally, in the sixth inning, O'Fallon put its hits together — scoring four runs to take the lead.

O'Fallon also capitalized in the inning on an error by Collins at second, who appeared to have difficulty getting the ball out of his glove after fielding a sharp ground ball.

Bowen ("he just got so dagged out tired," said Benson) was relieved with the bases loaded, the score tied, and two outs by Valvert. Valvert, who pitched the distance in the game earlier, although he said his arm was hurting, walked in what proved to be the winning run before getting the third out.

Kelly Hogan, which scored its other two runs on wild pitches, was unable to duplicate its seventh inning heroics that morning.

KELLY HOGAN 3, ALTON 2
Kelly Hogan was within one strike of losing on three occasions — including two strikes on the player who got the winning hit.

Randy Chapman, who ran the count full before taking ball four, was on second base. Hinterser, who had forced Bowen at third, was on first.

Bowen was also within one strike of an out before slapping a ground ball to right field to begin the rally.

Adamitis also had two strikes against him, but still managed to hit the ball where he wanted. "I knew it was going to drop," he said of his pop outfield fly to right centerfield. "The centerfielder was standing in left center. I tried to hit the ball into right center."

When he did, Kacera not only waved Chapman home, but also the speedy Hinterser.

"If I didn't," Kacera explained, "there would have been 10 ballplayers and all their fans chasing me down Nameoki Road."

Hinterser arrived a split second after the ball, prompting the umpire to issue an "out" call. But when the dust had cleared, there was the ball, which had rolled out of the catcher's mitt.

"I just tried to hit it," said Bowen of his one out single.

"I just didn't want to make the out. I'd take anything to get on base," said Chapman, who continued the rally.

"I just said as hard as I could — and clean," said Hinterser, whose run won the game.

"When he (the umpire) called him (Hinterser) out, I just rolled to my knees. When he called him safe..." said Adamitis. The fun began.

"They would have had to carry Harry Caray to Memorial Hospital on that one," said Kacera.

"He would have went nuts," agreed Adamitis, smiling broadly. Although the big smiles were turned to frowns later in the day, there was nothing nutty about the effort. And certainly not the season.

As Kacera said, his blue cap in hand, you can look it up.

SIUE schedule Cougar kickers list upcoming soccer dates

EDWARDSVILLE — An opening home stand against two teams from the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association, a trip to the Mayor's Cup Tournament in Oneonta, N.Y., the Bronze Boot game, and a mixture of established rivals highlight the 1985 Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville soccer schedule, as announced this week by head coach Bob Guelker.

The Cougars, who are just two victories away from making Guelker the third coach in collegiate soccer history to win 300 games, open their 1985 slate with a Sept. 1 contest against Southeast Missouri State University.

Sept. 3, the Cougars remain at home for their first game ever against the University of Missouri-Rolla.

The Cougars will jump into the fire of the NCAA race Sept. 6 when they travel to Oneonta, N.Y. to compete in the two-day Mayor's Cup Tournament with perennial powers from Alabama A&M University, Hartwick College and the State University of New York-Oneonta.

SIUE's home schedule for 1985 also includes: Southern Methodist University (Sept. 20); the University of Evansville (Sept. 27); the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee (Oct. 19); the University of Illinois-Chicago (Oct. 20); a homecoming battle with the U.S. Air Force Academy (Nov. 1); and Northeast Louisiana State (Nov. 3).

The Cougars will also play three games in St. Louis — Sept. 21 as part of a double-header against North Texas State University at St. Louis Soccer Park, Oct. 13 at the University of Missouri-St. Louis, and Oct. 25 in the annual Bronze Boot game against St. Louis University at Busch Stadium.

Brooklyn's 'Oldies' gobble up McDonalds

SCURRYING STEGEMEIER. McDonalds' Tom Stegemeier looks skyward as he fields a fly ball during his teams contest with the Brooklyn Robins. Brooklyn won both games of the doubleheader last Sunday.
(Staff photo by James Blasingame)

By JAMES BLASINGAME
Journal Sports Editor

GRANITE CITY — Music flowed from the Brooklyn Robins dugout and streamed out to the pitcher's mound. Portable stereos are commonplace on summer afternoons, but the songs from the Brooklyn bench weren't the typical elbow-popping, moon-walking tunes that come from the hip youth of East St. Louis. These strange sounds were soulful and mellow, even relaxing. It made you want to play "What's wrong with this picture?"

"That's his throwin' stuff," said one Brooklyn player as he nodded to the mound.

"Them's oldies, but goodies," another smiled.

Out on the hill was an oldie, but goodie in his own right, 52-year-old Ray Tolliver.

In the Inter-city baseball league where the majority of players are 25 or under, Tolliver was using his underhand delivery on an Army hardball squad before most of his current competitors were even born.

On Sunday in the first contest between Brooklyn's Robins and McDonalds, Tolliver made mincemeat out of the fast-food chain. The venerable right-hander had a no-hitter through four innings, and allowed only three hits total in shutting out McDonalds' 9-0.

Tolliver's unusual throwing motion and off-speed pitches, along with his music and constant jabbering on the hill, kept McDonalds' hitters off stride the whole way.

"I made a tape. It's got the Temptations, the Impressions, Teddy Pendergrass, and there are some others on there too," Tolliver said. "It just, you know, helps me."

"And talking helps me. I learned that shooting pool a long time ago. You can get their (opposing hitters') minds off the game by making them listen to your bull."

It wasn't the bull, however, that kept McDonalds' batsmen off the basepaths.

"He was coming from down here," said McDonalds' Kenny Wilson as he jiggled his hand close to his right knee. "He had everybody way out in front. He's got some movement on the ball and he kept it down. He's a pretty good pitcher for someone that old."

"I've been throwing that submarine ball for years," Tolliver said. "I throw about one and one, sliders and fastballs, and then I'll throw and overhand change. As long as I'm getting them out, I'll keep playing. When I start losing, that's when I quit."

If Tolliver continues to get the kind of hitting support that he received on Sunday, he may be throwing until he can no longer climb to the top of the mound. In game one, the rockin' Robins belted out 13 hits and scored nine times.

After a nine to nothing loss to a 52-year-old in the first game, McDonalds surely expected things to get better in the second. They didn't.

In Game Two, McDonalds was pounded 17-1, and this time the Robins' starter was (you guessed it) 53-year-old Brooklyn's Wendell Johnson, like Tolliver, used off-speed pitching to yield only three hits, and was supported by a fine defensive effort from the Robins.

"We have a sound defense," said Brooklyn manager Clyde Thomas. "I feel we have one of the best second base-shortstop (Cliff Sanford and Byron Doss) combinations in the area."

But the Robins didn't score 26 runs on 30 hits for the day by playing good defense. Brooklyn consistently hit the ball hard. On the afternoon, Clarence Thomas was 7-for-10, Michael Billington was 6-for-9, and Lefty Woolridge was 5-for-10 with a homerun.

"I think it (McDonalds' loss) was a combination of our power and their lacking a couple of key ballplayers," Thomas said. "Jeff and Lance Parker are both good boys and they're not here. They have a good club. They're the only team with the exception of East St. Louis to beat us."

"I'm real pleased. We got shutout ball from the old fellas," smiled Thomas.

Johnson, a physical education teacher in East St. Louis, went the entire seven innings as did Tolliver.

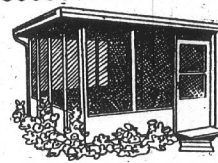

"You notice I didn't throw many fastballs. I just started throwing them in the fifth. You use that smoke for the young bucks," Johnson said. "I just try to keep them off-stride. I'm not trying to strike anybody out. I just want to throw strikes."

"You should have seen his fastball when he was younger," Thomas interjected. "Talk about a Nolan Ryan (Houston Astros' speedballer)."

For McDonalds' coach Rick Ficker, it was a long afternoon.

"We've only got nine players. We have to play so many players out of position that you really don't have a good chance against a team like Brooklyn (atop the Red Division with a 17-3 record)," Ficker said.

Miners end '85 season

By AL BARNES
EDWARDSVILLE — All in all it was a successful season, an inaugural one, for the Metro East Miners. And, it came to an end last Saturday at the Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville baseball field.

The Miners of Coach Ed Kopff defeated the Quincy Rivermen 7-6 in a thrilling come-from-behind rally.

Matt Smith who will be a senior at SIU this fall had a rough start falling behind 2-0 in the first inning. But he appeared to get stronger as the game went on.

Earlier in the week Smith had decided the Rivermen 5-1 to run his record to 2-4 after a slow start.

Paced by the hitting of Mike Bertagnoli, the Miners scored three times and seemed in command until the seventh when a fluke single in the hole at third base permitted the Rivermen to take a 6-4 lead.

Bertagnoli led off the bottom of the ninth with a bunt down the third base line. Chris Benak, the Miners third baseman, singled to right putting runners at first and third.

Howard Patton smashed a drive to right center scoring Bertagnoli and Benak moved to third. Catcher Todd Hawkins fled to right. Bob Moranda singled to left.

Dave Vieth grounded out to the shortstop as both runners advanced. With two outs, Brain Kasting of Wood River blasted one into the gap scoring Patton with winning run.

The Miners ended the season at better than break even (23-22). They were 12-12 in the first half of the season and 11-10 during the second half.

Said Smith, "I've got to get stronger, get some more pop on my fastball. I want to make the SIU varsity (he was red shirted last spring) so I plan to work on the weights to be ready."

The Miners top three hitters for the season were Todd Hawkins (.400), Chris Benak (.350) and Mike Bertagnoli (.320).

Duenas of Belleville posted the Miners best record on the mound (6-3).

Four of the Miners regulars Smith, Duenas, Vieth and Bertagnoli have announced they play to attend SIU this fall.
